

Empowering Youth to Claim Their Mastery

A new generation of ascended masters is walking among us made up of children who possess amazing innate spiritual abilities. They are here with a mission and purpose to assist in raising the consciousness of the planet. They are relying on us to help them master their multidimensional abilities as they prepare to step out into the world. In order to best support them, let's start with who they are, and why they are here.

Who Are They?

- High-vibrational, spiritually-gifted, or simply spiritually-curious youth
- Multidimensional children who possess amazing innate spiritual abilities, many of whom already have a sense of their mission and purpose. They arrive on this planet with fewer buffering veils of 'forgetfulness' making it easier to remember their connection to Source and embody their Divinity.
- These are souls who volunteered to put on their 'human suit' and experience our Human Collective during one of the most transformational periods of this planet's history. Their perceptions of our 3rd dimensional planet and its limitations are vastly different from our own. They offer us a new perspective on how we can perceive our own human potential.
- They already have immediate access to multidimensional resources that has taken us years to attain. They maintain a fast speed of vibration, making such things as time travel, channeling, and Akashic access immediate. There is no need to decipher between dimension to utilize information.
- They face many challenges as a result of being so connected to other dimensions. For example, receiving channeled messages, being highly empathic/telepathic, or seeing time/space energy warps can be unwelcomed experiences in their everyday physical reality.
- We refer to these waves of arriving children by many names: like Indigo, Crystal, Rainbow, or Hybrid. As a group, we often call them StarSeeds.

Why Are They Here?

- They come with a mission and specific intention, for both the collective, as well as their own individual soul's journey. They are here to assist in the ascension process of humanity and of the planet.
- The Indigos came to break up the resistance and stagnant energies and open the door for the arrival of higher vibrational souls.
- Crystals then came in to raise humanity's consciousness and vibrations so we could affect the creation of the new Earth grid, that opens us up to intergalactic communication and influence.
- Rainbows bring in the energy to assist us in balancing our individual energy fields and find our zero-point, through which our multidimensional selves can open and connect to other dimensions.
- And it's the Hybrids that will come to open the door and prepare us for future contact and disclosure.

How Can We Best Support Them?

- They're relying on us to recognize them and hold space in a way that will nurture and strengthen their spirits while they traverse this 3rd dimensional maze of density... to hold that space long enough for them to step into an awareness of themselves and their sovereignty, as fully human and fully divine Beings.
- The greatest support we can offer is simply a matter of our BEING... open your heart space to them and share the essence of your own spirit.
- In regards to DOING, I suggest two things: First, maintain a space of playful curiosity that allows for pure potential and possibility to unfold. Secondly, share your own "vibes" as you also remember this acronym "VIBES"

The VIBES System

V...is for validate. When they come to you and share their experiences, be sure to validate the feelings behind their experience.

I...is for interest. Be interested in what they are saying and find a way to convey that to them. Your interest will encourage them to continue talking about their experiences and keep a safe and open line of communication alive.

B...is for Believe/Believe IN. This can be tricky. Many of today's children are like natural-born lie detectors. They are highly empathic and intuitively know when your words aren't in sync with your feelings. So, for example, if your child wakes up and tells you they just spent the night at spaceship school, and you can't find it within yourself to really believe that, don't lie and say that you do. Rather, choose to BELIEVE IN him. Believe in the truth of his perceptions.

E...is for Explore. Ask questions that will allow them to explore their feelings and experiences. Guide them to discover their own answers and to deepen their self-awareness.

S...is for Speak. Speak to them about your own experiences. Offer them your spiritual perspective.

We hope this information brings you new insights and greater understanding of your Young Ascended Master, as well as provide you with simple ways to support them. Consider joining our empowering youth and parent programs and courses.
